Ir is very evident from the sudden and unexpected attacks made by them on the police stations at Jumpole, Qualla Polla, and Terrachee, that the Malays in Sunghie Ujong, though beaten, are not vet qubdued. It is too ofton the practice with the British relinquish part of the fruits of it by not taking adequate precautions to secure the maintenance of peace. This arisos in a great measure from a generous forbearance and unwillingness to push an advantage with a fallen foe. The feeling is, of course, very creditable to the humanity and gooddess of heart of the English, but it is rather apt to have a prejudicial influence on their interests, and generally fails to produce the effect hoped for. The real truth of the NEW CODE-OF CIVIL PROCEDURE matter is that any delay, any hesitation in treating with Eastern races is calculated to create an impression among them that we are either afraid to proceed or are not prepared to follow up our successes. The correspondent of the Straits Times, writing from Rassa, complains that though it is now three weeks since the police were driver out of Jumpole, Terrachee, and Qualla Pella, nothing has yet been done towards re-occupying the remained where they were. deed they should. With a proper disposition easily, but of course the Republicans must have their innings. The country is in a wonderfully Hongkong and Whampon Dock Company's prosperous state. THE SULTAN AND HIS PROSPECTS. As for the affairs of Turkey I have not space to describe them—they rapidly grow- worse and worse. No money can be raised on any terms, and the Porte cannot even pay the moiety of the dividends which was promised. The insurgents have gained several advantages. They have encompassed an important fortress called Niksics, and unless it is relieved shortly, of which there seems no prospect, it must surrender. The Turkish authorities at Ragusa refuse any guarantee of personal security to the refugees and evince no desire to conciliate the orto proposeconditions of pacification acceptable to the insurgents. The Times' correspondent avers that he has conversed with Ali Pasha and Wassa Effendi, and that he found them absolately unable to appreciate the danger of the position or the inability of the Porte to meet the emergency. He adds that in official circles the opinion is that conciliation is hopeless. Turkish troops have been committing ontrages in Christian villages, slaying women, and corrying off their beads in triumph, &c. Not one word that the Turks say can be believed. In fact they dony authentic and confirmed reports of their losses. Things look very squally indeed, and Austria is having a very lively, time of it, guarding her frontier, avoiding intervention, attempting hopeless reconciliation, dsing idle threats and vain remonstrance. Russia seems vacillating, and I suppose, is bent on some drove which England will-resent.

Nothing, it seems, can equal the inanity, triviality, and atter blank of the Sultan's

mind. He is not deficient in understanding; i he can "gossip" on many subjects with glibness, refer to some of the phases in his existence -as, for instance, to his memorable tour of 1867-with languid interest, and evince some curiosity about that bustling outer world which goes "whire! whire! all by wheels! whiz! whiz! all by steam ! " But everything in his look and: prech betrays the gloomy ignorance in which his barem education has buried his mental faculties. He appears altogether destitute of all powers of reasoning, incapable of any intelectual exertion, and especially of any such effort of imagination us might enable him to break through the magio sircle of his concentrated selfishness, and to feel or even show sympathy with any living being. There is nothing so deeply seated in his brain as the consciousness that the whole world was made for himself cione. The Popes of old-earved out the earth among foreign Potentates, and draw's meridiso line, all to the West of which was to be awarded to the Catholic and all to the East to the Most Faithful King. The present Sultan. seems equally to think that all the land, the life, and freedom of the people of his vast Empire are things to be disposed of by him at his own pleasure as bisabsolute and indisputable private property. It is often asserted that the progress Russia in Central Asia promotes the interests of civilisation. Perhaps this may eventually prove true. Just at present, however, the process by which this praiseworthy end is sought cannot be very agreeable to the inhabitants of the conquered kuanates. In former times, Russia civilised by the knout; now, by the moone. According to a Times telegram, Fulat Beg. "one of the native leaders of the last attempt of the Khokanders to defend the northern districts of the khanate," has been hung by the Russians at Marchilao. A very naughty man was this Fulat Beg. Perversely shutting his eves to the beauties of Muscovite civilisation, he was rash enough to take up arms on behalf of the freedom of his native country. In Enrope, this is esteemed a virtue, rather than a crime, but in Asia-cspecially near the Russian frontier -it bosomes a deadly sin. Hence, The liret real debate in the French Chamber although Fulat Beg owed no allegiance to the of Deputies occurred last Friday, the 24th, inst., Czar, the southern portion of Khokand basing its obserater was most creditable to the been-nominally free until unnexed a few weaks new House. english and chinese dictionary. PUNTI AND MANDARIN PRONUNCIATION. An Angeo-Chinese Dictionant, published at the Daily Press Office, Hongkong.

LIOR comprehensiveness and practical service this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years been compelled to coin to express the numerous objects in machinery photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relations has imposed upon them, are here given in estenio. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given, the accents being carafully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond . the above Company, are prepared to gran the extent of £15,000 on Adjoining Risks at attaced on the Praya West, Wanchi. in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast Policies against FIRE, to the extent of £10,000 economy of space, achieving a clearness not on any Building, or on Merobandise in the same previously attained, and dispensing with those at the usual rates, subject to a discount of vast margina and vacant spaces which have Twenty per cent. (20 %) heretofore characterized Chinese publications. To illustrate the vast scope of the work, the following facts are submitted for consideration, Dalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters, and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and other elementary works as yet published, the current local rate of premis will be allowed student of this difficult language absolutely requires examples to display the various applications and equivalents of different words which have one general meaning. Of these examples this work contains more than five times as

For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effection with natives who understand nothing but Chiindispensable to all Europeans residing in Ohina, and to the natives themselves it czplains subjects fully with which very fow indead of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in Uhina it cannot but be invaluable occasionally.
